

9.

For His Excellency's Decision.

Wireless Sets for the Phoenix Islands.

- (a) Though not absolutely essential, it is recommended that Teleradio sets should be installed on Sydney Island, Hull, and Gardner Islands, owing to their distance from Colony headquarters and the main centres of population. These would cost approximately £150 each.
 - (b) The set at present on Hull Island is not nearly so suitable or efficient for the purpose required as a short wave Teleradio. It would, however, be ideal for Funafuti, where a long wave set is required by International Regulations.
 - (c) Should Mr. Jones cease to be stationed at Hull Island, Native Operator Falavi, at present at Funafuti, would be able to carry on the wireless service, should it be considered desirable.
